PATRIOTISM

During the current presidential campaign when accusations about a lack of “patriotism” or bragging about an overabundance of “patriotism” are everyday soundbites, it will be well to be once again reminded of those two famous definitions of “patriotism.”

In his pioneering dictionary, Dr. Samuel Johnson defined “patriotism” as the last refuge of a scoundrel.

Many years later, in his Devil’s Dictionary, Ambrose Bierce noted his disagreement with Dr. Johnson.

Bierce defined it as the first.

A Chance For Kerry And The Democrats To Demonstrate They Favor A Secure Israel

While George W. Bush has paid a lot of lip service to favoring a strong Israel, the actions of his administration have been much less supportive. Besides promoting the destructive “Road Map,” the administration is embarked on a highly dangerous program of supplying Egypt with the most advanced weapons in the American arsenal.

The bankrupt Egyptian State with an economy and education system in shambles is buying these weapons for only one reason—to attack Israel when they deem it appropriate. And the Bush Administration is fueling this run-up to war.

These actions, which encourage war, are not hidden—they are open, described in the media and approved by Congress. But I have yet to hear one word of disapproval from the “peace party.” Where are the experts and “friends of Israel” who advise Kerry on the Middle East?

The Administration’s policy of arming the Arab countries with advanced weaponry is as flawed as its peace policies in Iraq and Afghanistan. It won’t be too long before these weapons are used against American soldiers, just like the missiles we gave the Afghans to use against the Russians.

I would trust Kerry’s good will toward Israel if I heard him denounce these arms sales.

WHO WILL PAY FOR THE QUIET TIMES?

For the big terrorist hits on America we total up the costs in human lives, materials and reconstruction. But we never send the bills to the perpetrator nations like Saudi Arabia and Iran and Libya. The American taxpayers eat the costs. This is a big, big mistake because it gives the perpetrator nations no incentive to change and it turns the American taxpayers into patsies.

I suggest that during the presidential campaign the voters should demand of the candidates that they must take a stand on forcing the perpetrator nations pay for the costs of these attacks. Let's find out how much respect the candidates really have for the American taxpayers. All of these nations have assets that can be seized for payment. If we can launch a preemptive war we surely can trample some of the small print in international law and the niceties demanded by our State Department.

What can we do about the “quiet times” when alerts are raised but no actual attacks take place? Not only that, but we keep many security services on “alert” all of the time. These “quiet times” cost hundreds of millions, if not billions, of dollars in government and private money.

Although none of our leaders have the guts to do it, the bills for the cost of the “quiet times,” as well as the bills for the dust ups should be sent to every country that has a connection with the terrorists. This means countries that are allowing their citizens to fund terrorism, countries that are allowing their imams and mullahs to preach terrorism, countries that are permitting their educators to teach terrorism and countries that allow terrorists to come and go, at will.

How would we bill these terror-abetting nations? For the oil exporting nations, we would commandeer loaded tankers leaving their ports to the point where the price of their oil would average $10 a barrel. If these nations—Saudi Arabia and Iran--want to survive, they cannot afford to cut back on their shipments even in the face of the seizures. For the non-oil exporters such as Egypt, we cut way, way back on arms shipments, loans and grants. As for Syria, there isn't much we can get out of them, but we can strangle them economically until they scream uncle—Uncle Sam, that is.

But as long as the American taxpayers don't scream about the terrorism bills, nothing will get done.

THE LAW-ABIDING ROAD WARRIOR

There I was, creeping along through the construction on the Merritt Parkway when a roadside sign loomed up. Its message was unequivocal—REDUCE SPEED TO 40-MILES PER HOUR. Being a law-abiding citizen of the great state of Connecticut, I blinked and reread the message. No question—it said REDUCE SPEED TO 40 MILES PER HOUR. I was not sure how to reduce my speed to 40 MPH since my speedometer was stuck at 10 MPH and by an off-the-top-of my head estimate, the long line of vehicles in front of me also were doing 10 MPH.

Since I did not want to violate any law, I stopped the car, got out, and looked for a state trooper who might help me out of my dilemma. Of course, when you need a cop, there is never one around. It flashed across my mind that if I were doing 80 MPH, highway patrol cars would be swarming out of the bushes.

As I stood next to my car, it was hard to think clearly about the proper course of action. The noise of the horns from the cars lined behind me was deafening. But I began to get concerned about my safety when the drivers of some of the cars behind me began to maneuver their vehicles off the road in order to pass me. Also, I was appalled by the language used by some of the women drivers who left their cars and accosted me. The ladies that gave me the finger did not seem quite so harsh.

I must admit, I was forced to become a lawbreaker. I got back in my car and resumed my speed of 10 miles an hour—while carefully avoiding the off-the-road drivers that kept zooming past me. Until I crossed the state line into New York, I was unable to reduce my speed to 40 MPH.

MORE JEWISH HUMOR

A Rabbi was opening his mail one morning. Taking a single sheet of paper from an envelope he found written on it only one word: shmuck". At the next Friday night service, the rabbi announced, "I have known many people who have written letters and forgot to sign their names, but this week I received a letter from someone who signed his name... and forgot to write a letter.

A woman goes to the post office to buy stamps for her Channukah cards. She says to the clerk "May I have 50 Channukah stamps please" "What denomination?" says the clerk. The woman says "Oy vay, my god, has it come to this? Okay, give me 6 orthodox, 12 conservative and 32 reform.

After the circumcising of his baby brother in shul, little Jonah sobbed all the way home in the back seat of the car.

His father asked him three times what was wrong. Finally, the boy replied, "That rabbi said he wanted us brought up in a Jewish home, and I want to stay with you guys!"

- SHOE (comic strip)

This communicating of a man's self to his friend works two contrary effects, for it redoubles joys, and cuts griefs in halves; for there is no man that imparts his joys to his friend but he enjoys the more; and no man that imparts his griefs to his friend, but he grieves the less.

- Francis Bacon

The head learns new things, but the heart forevermore practices old experiences.

Therefore our life is but a new form of the way men have lived from the beginning.

- Henry Ward Beecher

Not all those who are working to better the condition of the people are Bolsheviki or enemies of society.
